

A general tension method created for researchers to input paramters as needed. AJ

